The insider threat landscape is constantly changing. Yet pre-hire background checks don't detect post-hire security risks, such as disgruntled employees, malicious insiders or compromised coworkers. Most enterprise security departments have no way of knowing if a new employee, on-site contractor or temporary worker poses a threat to customer data, brand reputation or even workplace safety.

CONTINUOUS INSIDER THREAT MANAGEMENT

Endera® addresses the post-hire security gap by providing the industry's first automated, continuous insider threat management platform. Endera scans thousands of data sources to proactively alert organizations to potential high-risk individuals within their workforce for further investigation internally or by a background check vendor.

COMPREHENSIVE PUBLIC DATA SOURCES

Endera delivers the industry's most comprehensive, all-in-one source of near real-time alerts from criminal, civil, court, licensing, permit and sanction records nationwide, including booking data. Endera continuously monitors publicly-available federal, state and county records, detects insider risk and verifies alerts for further investigation.
